How MPJ Works

We have adopted Rights based approach to empower people. We work as a catalyst to empower people through dissemination of vital information regarding their entitlements and help them identifying their rights enshrined in the constitution of India through public awareness programmes, public meetings and engaging media. We also help people in demanding their rights by organising public protests, lodging public complaints, advocacy, media sensitisation and legal interventions etc.

Right to Live with Dignity is a Constitutional Guarantee

“To live with human dignity free from exploitation, discrimination and inequality is our fundamental right”.

Our constitution guarantees equality, freedom, personal liberty and protection of life.

Our constitution provides us the right "to live life with dignity and freedom". This right to live life with dignity includes the right to education, health and livelihood also.

Programmes

Thematic areas

POVERTY REDUCTION: Poverty reduction is one of the major thematic areas of MPJ's programme operations major efforts go towards poverty alleviation by ensuring the proper delivery of ration to the needy and poor people through PDS under National Food Security Act and improving living standard of the target people.

PARTICIPATION: People's participation is a very crucial part of programme operation as it creates ownership among them which is essential to make the program sustainable. MPJ tries to involve project participants at all stages of project circle for long term sustainability.

PROMOTING GOOD GOVERNANCE, DEMOCRACY & HUMAN RIGHTS: The Governance, Democracy and Human Rights are correlated. MPJ has long been working in this field in view of promoting human rights, democracy and good governance by raising awareness among the grass-root people.

WOMEN EMPOWERMENT: MPJ has been very much concerned about the empowerment of women. MPJ strongly believes that economic emancipation of the women can make them empowered which may also help to establish their social status. Keeping this reality in mind, MPJ has been working with women.

ADVOCACY: Under this thematic area, MPJ always tries its best for advocating the issues of public interest influencing policy makers/stakeholders through lobbying, seminar, workshop, protests and forming alliances with organisations having similar objects.
