

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

MPJ TO HOLD NATIONAL CONVENTION ON INCLUSIVE DEVELOPMENT IN JALGAON

MUMBAI – The Movement for Peace and Justice for Welfare (MPJ) is set to host a national convention aimed at shedding light on the imperative of inclusive development in India and fostering the active participation of all sections of society in the development process.

Scheduled to take place on February 11, 2024, from 1 pm to 5 pm at the Chhatrapati Sambhaji Maharaj Natya Sankul in Jalgaon, Maharashtra, the convention will address several key objectives.

The convention aims to:

- Highlight existing inequalities and challenges faced by marginalized communities in India.
- Work towards reducing social and economic inequality.
- Empower marginalized communities and individuals.
- Promote sustainable and environmentally friendly development.
- Support efforts to eliminate social, economic, and geographical discrimination.
- Raise awareness to ensure equal opportunities and the right to livelihood for all.
- Advocate for the rights and access to development for marginalized communities, castes, religions, and gender minorities.

Despite economic growth, a significant portion of India's population remains in poverty, struggling to meet basic needs. Income inequality is on the rise, with a few amassing immense wealth while the majority faces economic hardship. Issues such as child malnutrition, lack of access to quality education and healthcare, rampant unemployment, and poverty persist.

MPJ believes that inclusive development is the cornerstone of India's progress. The organization emphasizes that without ensuring equal opportunities and outcomes for all, the vision of a developed and prosperous India cannot be achieved. The convention will focus on bridging the gap between the constitutional ideals of inclusive development and the current socio-economic challenges faced by the population.

The event in Jalgaon is expected to draw experts, academics, social workers, and civil society representatives from across the country, along with a significant turnout from the general public.

About MPJ

The Movement for Peace and Justice for Welfare (MPJ) is a non-profit people's movement dedicated to advocating for inclusive development, social justice, and the well-being of marginalized communities in India. MPJ works towards creating a society where every individual has equal opportunities and access to essential resources for a dignified life.

For more information, please contact:

Arif Deshmukh, District President, MPJ Jalgaon

Phone: 9075011884